Dear Racine DNR,

I am writing to ask you to deny the City of Racine's water diversion application. The FoxConn facility which it seeks to benefit will open the door to the enormous environmental risks outlined by many opposing parties - in particular the possible release of contaminants back into our fresh water resource, and work arounds to state and federal safety standards. Our water is too precious to be absorbed by industries such as FoxConn which plans to use 2.7 million gallons each day.

I am a young women who wishes for Wisconsin to remain my home. The damage and risk associated with this project are great, but not as frightening to me as the decision-makers who believe FoxConn is an advantageous venture for the people of Wisconsin and of the Great Lakes region.

Please project our water and our home by denying the City of Racine's water diversion application.

Abby
