I lived in Racine years ago and enjoyed the beauty of the lake everyday.

I have a few questions. Will the water being returned to the lake after use be tested for safety? If the water is so "safe" and can be returned to the lake, why doesn't Foxconn just keep it and use it again? Or better yet, why don't they use it to fill their water coolers and make their tea from it? …… Oh I get it, it's not going to be "that" safe.

I say no!
