I write to record my strong opposition to the proposed diversion of 7M gals of water a day to benefit Foxconn. The information on your website states that the current use by the City of Racine is 16.9M gals of water. An increase of almost 50% to benefit private corporate interests is not in the public's interest. Lake Michigan and all of the Great Lakes are irreplaceable critical assets to the regions' health and vitality.

No individual or corporate interest should supersede the public interest in securing this water source now and into the future. DNR as a public agency is charged with protecting these public assets. This application should be denied.
