Title: Earn A Buck, CWD and a Failed Deer Season Structure

Problem: Clearly the DNR has no viable solution to the over populated deer herd that they say we have here in WI. In reality know one wants to talk about the real problem that everyone but the DNR, the Natural Resources Board and Conservation Congress realize exists. ACCESS!! Large and small tracts of state and privately owned land that has become sanctuaries for deer, of which the majority if not all of these lands are in one way or another receiving some type of government funding through numerous programs such as Set-a-Side, Timber Management, no-till cropping ASCS programs, stream restoration and a whole host of taxpayer funded dollars which are being misused at the taxpayers expense. There is but one absolute solution which, without a doubt, would solve Wisconsin's whitetail dilemma.

Solution: Be it resolved, that the Conservation Congress at it's annual meeting held in Iowa County on April 13, 2009 recommend that the Conservation Congress work with the Natural Resources Board and Wisconsin Legislators to take action to correct this situation. Plain, simple and to the point, regardless of existing contracts with any and all landowners for such government funded programs as discussed above and without grandfather clauses any and all lands that receive any taxpayer funding shall open such lands to controlled public hunting and fishing accessibility without exception.
