Title : Cougar hunting in Wisconsin

The Problem : Cougars are migrating into Wisconsin from western states and creating problems with farmers and pet owners. The problem is made worse by the fact the State does not have a cougar hunting season. The State of Wisconsin should not worry about having a resident population of cougars before it starts a hunting season because the cougars here now came from western states and will continue to migrate here.

Whereas Cougars are known to attack people and pets.

Whereas the State has a past history of poor management with the Timber Wolf.

Whereas the State does not need another large predator on the landscape.

Therefore be it resolved, that the Conservation Congress at its annual meeting held in Waukesha County on April 11th, 2011 recommends that the Conservation Congress work with the Department to take action to correct this problem by introducing a Cougar hunting Season every year for no less than three months per year.
