

Flying WILD Workshops

Educator and Facilitator

Whether you are an avid birder or don't notice the difference between a chickadee and an eagle, you can learn activities to teach students about birds and the conservation issues they face. Birds are everywhere, and yet their population declines are indicators of conservation problems we all face. The Flying WILD curriculum engages children in bird conservation and gets kids outdoors!

- Are you a classroom teacher or environmental educator?
- Do you work or volunteer for a locally based organization or group?
- Do you facilitate other EE training programs? Do you enjoy training educators?
- Are you a community member who helps coordinate local bird events or festivals?

Become a Flying WILD Educator and/or Facilitator

Help reconnect kids with nature and build science and literacy skills through birds.

Educator Workshop

September 19, 2014

5:00-8:00 pm

Facilitator Workshop

(Completion of Educator Training is required)

September 20, 2014

8:30 am-4:30 pm

Lunch included

Location: Horicon Marsh Education and Visitor Center

N7725 Hwy 28

Horicon, WI 53032

To Register for Workshop - Contact: Beth Haffenbredl

Email: beth.haffenbredl@wisconsin.gov

Phone: 920-387-7877

Registration Deadline: September 15, 2014

Flying WILD materials provides interactive, interdisciplinary, standards-based activities to help students understand the importance of migratory birds and their conservation. Activities are grouped as teacher-led, student-led, or volunteer-led. Lessons target middle-school students but are adaptable for higher or lower grades.

Educator workshops: Explore the Flying WILD curriculum and techniques to incorporate it into your programming.

Facilitator workshops: Facilitators learn how to conduct successful educator workshops in your area.

Participants receive great ideas as well as the curriculum guide to take back to their school or organization.