

Certified Laboratories In Wisconsin Doing Bacteria Testing of Private Wells

The laboratories on the following list are certified by the WI Dept. of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection to do coliform bacteria testing of water from private wells for a fee. They may or may not be certified for Safe Drinking Water Act bacteria testing for wells serving the public, e.g., at taverns or Mobile Home Parks. Unless marked with an asterisk, they have also agreed to provide test results to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) if you request it. If your well has been assigned a unique well number, and if you provide this number and request that the test results be reported to DNR, the information will be kept in a data base. Your voluntary cooperation will help regulators and researchers better understand the quality of Wisconsin's underground water supplies. For a list of Safe Drinking Water Act certified bacti labs, contact your local DNR headquarters. (rev. 05/01)
