How Anchor Institutions can build Healthier and more Sustainable Communities

Presenters:

Ned Noel, Associate Planner, City of Eau Claire, WI

Sara Carstens, Director of Community Engagement and Wellness, Mayo Clinic Health System

Eau Claire, WI

We hope you can join us for the first Webinar of the 2016 Sustainable Strategies Webinar Series!

The January Webinar will be on "How Anchor Institutions can build Healthier and more Sustainable Communities".

Presenters will include Ned Noel, Associate City Planner with the City of Eau Claire, and Sara Carstens, Director of Community Engagement and Wellness, Mayo Clinic Health Systems.

The presentation will cover how a local government, the City of Eau Claire's Planning, Parks, and Public Health departments, and a local hospital, Mayo Clinic Health System NW WI Region are working together to improve and transform community health.

Ned Noel

Ned Noel is the Associate Planner for the City of Eau Claire, WI. Ned has practiced urban planning for over 13 years within the Twin Cities and Eau Claire markets. In his role he helps the city coordinate planning efforts on sustainability and healthy community design, and reviews neighborhood and development projects.

Sara Carstens

Sara Carstens, Director of Community Engagement and Wellness, Mayo Clinic Health Systems, has over 12 years of experience serving in local public health departments and health systems. In her current role she is responsible for the implementation and evaluation of community health needs assessments, which includes public programs, community coalition work and building partnerships, on behalf of Mayo Clinic Health System in the Northwest Wisconsin region. Sara believes that achieving lasting and substantial population health improvements requires the concerted collaboration of many entities, including primary care, public health and city planning.
