

Frozen Beauty

By Shari Nicklow

A small glance
Is all it takes
Just one more glance
And Lake Superior makes
The most breath-taking view
I've ever seen
None can match
Not even the open sea
Because when that first frost settles
And the morning sun hits it right
You'll wish for a camera which Might be able to capture that sight
Sure, there may be others
Perhaps shots more daring, divine
But this beautiful body has captured
My own heart and mind
And it's ok because the memories
Keep me coming back for more
But until then I have pictures
To remind me of its shore
