

Tai Chi Practitioners

By Marilyn Zelke-Windau

Waves breathe in, breathe out.

They open, extend.

They push their power forward,

in blue reaching,

then shift their weight to pull back.

Repeated again and again,

their flow in sustained movement,

lulls the lake,

balances the forces

without to within.