

Small Business Advisor - Special Edition—August 2018

Join DNR's Small Business Environmental Council for a discussion on regulatory impacts at the Portage County Business Council

Small businesses in Wisconsin have a voice that speaks on their behalf at the DNR: the Small Business Environmental Council. The Council provides advice and input to DNR on the impact of rules on Wisconsin small businesses and reviews materials and guidance documents to make them easier to understand. To help them be more effective, Council members want to hear directly from businesses about their concerns with DNR rules and understanding how to comply.

The Small Business Environmental Council invites local businesses to an open forum to share their concerns. The event will include an introduction from the DNR Secretary, Daniel Meyer. The Council event will take place September 11 from 8:00 – 10:00 a.m. at the Portage County Business Council, 5501 Vern Holmes Dr., Stevens Point. Please register with the Portage County Business Council through their website: <http://business.portagecountybiz.com/events/details/a-voice-for-small-business-7778>. There is no cost to attend.

Does your business have 100 employees or less? Have you attempted to apply for permits such as wetlands, wastewater discharge, air pollution, or drinking water, and struggled to find the information you needed to complete the process? The Council wants to hear from you!
