Fishing Wisconsin by the Numbers

THE ECONOMIC IMPACT

- Fishing generates a $2.3 billion economic impact in Wisconsin and supports more than 21,500 jobs.
- Sales for fishing trip-related equipment generate $1.4 billion in direct expenditures.
- 337,000 nonresident anglers fished in Wisconsin in 2011, spending a total of 6.7 million days and $211 million on retail goods.

THE ANGLERS

- Fishing is one of the state's most beloved pastimes -- fully 53 percent of Wisconsin adults said they fish in a 2009 UW-Madison Badger poll. Wisconsin annually sells about 1.25 million fishing licenses to adult anglers.
- Anglers spent 15.3 million days fishing and took 10.7 million trips in Wisconsin in 2011.
- Nonresident anglers spend more days fishing in Wisconsin than any other state but Florida and Michigan.

THE FISH

- Anglers annually catch 88 million fish and keep 33 million fish of all kinds in Wisconsin, releasing the rest to challenge anglers another day.
- The musky is the state fish. In 2010, Muskies, Inc. members reported catching and releasing 72 muskies that were 48 inches or larger from Wisconsin waters.
- Walleye are Wisconsin anglers' favorite targets, followed by bass. Collectively, panfish are caught most frequently.
- By far, most Wisconsin fish are the result of naturally reproducing populations. But the DNR typically raises and stocks about 12 million fish of larger sizes.
- The sturgeon is the state's largest, and longest-lived fish; in fact, the world record sturgeon taken by hook and line was a 170-pound, 10-ounce giant hauled from Wisconsin's Yellow Lake in Burnett County in 1979. The state record for a speared sturgeon was set in 2010, when a 212 pound sturgeon was speared on the Lake Winnebago system.

THE WATERS

- 15,081 inland lakes, 42,000 miles of perennial streams and rivers, 1,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline, and 260 miles of the Mississippi River.
- Wisconsin boasts 13,176 miles of trout streams, with 5,400 of them high quality, Class 1 trout streams.
- More than 90 percent of Wisconsin waters are supported entirely by natural reproduction resulting from good aquatic habitat.
