	State Land Open to Hunting

Most of the Loew Lake Unit's 1,200 acres are open to hunting during established hunting seasons. Hunting is not permitted in intensive use areas such as parking lots or other posted special use areas.

Deer Hunting: Only the use of muzzleloaders and/or bows and crossbows during firearm deer seasons is allowed.

There is private land surrounding the forest property. It is the hunter's responsibility to be sure to stay on state-owned property and not trespass on adjacent private lands. Some seasons are subject to change. Special disabled permits can be obtained by contacting the forest office. Consult the hunting and trapping regulations before going hunting.
