Brief Project Description:	The northern pike is Wisconsin's second largest predator fish and is an important part of the Green Bay ecosystem and fish community. Northern pike have become scarce in Green Bay due to wetland habitat losses of as high as 70%. In addition, fish encounter passage obstacles when leaving Green Bay to find spawning marshes or when fry migrate back to Green Bay. During 2007, 2008 and 2009, Brown County's Land & Water Conservation Department was successful in restoring northern pike habitat on private land in the Suamico and Little Suamico watersheds. To date they restored over 14 miles of stream corridor; 5 miles enhanced and protected and another 9 miles made accessible for migrating fish through the removal of stream impediments. Other accomplishments have included; 18 acres of wetland (spawning marshes) installed, 13 acres of vegetative riparian buffers, and 21 acres of critical area plantings. This proposal seeks funding to transfer Brown County's success to Oconto County by making that same program available to its private landowners.
